Sorry! Something went wrong Is your network connection unstable or browser outdated? Brahm Kavach Path in Punjabi Lyrics The Brahm Kavach is a composition attributed to Guru Hargobind Sahib. It is found in the Gurbilas Patshahi 10. In this, Guru Gobind Singh reads out the Brahm Kavach (thus the Patshahi 10 added to the composition in the beginning, in some Gutkas). However they then go on to tell the sangat that it was originally created by Guru Hargobind Sahib. In the Nihang Gutkas the name of the patshah is not written. It is recited 32 times a day by the Nihangs. You are the twelve fist long double edge sword, ten fist long khanda representing Mahakal, double handed sword, Enemy of the Throat, guardian of Dharam, caste string of a Kshatriya, meaning sword belt You are the, Nurturer of the world, Devour of Kings, Devour of time, Preserver of honour on the battlefield, weapon adorning warrior You are the adorner of kingdoms, Extremely fierce, Sword of Shiv Ji You are Parvati, the wife of Shivji, Saraswati, wife of Barhma, Laxmi, wife of Vishnu, fierce form of Parvati, You are the the eternal flame granter of salvation, Sharp edged sword the merciless sword You are angry eight armed warrior goddess Chandi beautifully adorned Chandi mother of the Earth mother of the world, dark form of chandi, treasure mine of virtue You are the good virtue to the world defater of evil ones, drinker of blood, pride of the world That Kshaytria (warrior) who reads this Kavach of Brahma of 32 (praises) daily (He) will attain victory on the battlefield, remain fearless, and attain Ridhi Sidhi (yogic spiritual powers) A Brahmin who reads this will know the secret of the Vedas, and a Vaish who reads with will attain comfort of wealth and family.
